DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the Claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various Claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each Claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Knight et al. [GB 2327175] in view of OWENSBY, CRAIG A. [US 20020077130 A1].

Art Unit: 2617

Regarding Claim 1, Knight discloses method for determining the behavior patterns of users of a telecommunication system on the basis of information collected from the telecommunication system, (Pg.1; 26-35), the method comprising;

Defining at least one variable or a combination of variables of the telecommunication, (Pg.4; 8-29)

Filtering user-specific information corresponding to the defined at least one variable or a combination of variables from the information collected from the telecommunication system, (Pg.4; 31-Pg.5; 34, Pg.3; 16-Pg.4; 6)

Knight fails to disclose classifying the users of the telecommunication system based on the filtered user-specific information into various classes indicative of a user's behavior patterns during use of the telecommunication system. However, OWENSBY teaches in an analogous art, that the classifying the users of the telecommunication system based on the filtered user-specific information into various classes indicative of a user's behavior patterns during use of the telecommunication system. (e.g. ¶ 0053, 0055, 0013-0015 and Abstract). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to include classifying the users of the telecommunication system based on the filtered user-specific information into various classes indicative of a user's behavior patterns during use of the telecommunication system in order to provide a system and method for providing targeted messages to a subscriber of a wireless mobile communications service.

Regarding Claim 2, Knight discloses a method according to Claim 1, characterized in that said user-specific information is filtered from the telecommunication system in real time. (Pg.4; 15-21)

Regarding Claim 3, Knight disclose a method according to Claim 1, characterized in that after said filtering of information the filtered information is saved (3; fig.1) for later analysis. (Pg.3; 20-24)

Regarding Claim 4-6, Knight discloses all the particulars of the Claim except after the classification; statistical analysis is carried out on the classified information. However, OWENSBY teaches in an analogous art, that a method according to Claim 1, characterized in that after the classification; statistical analysis is carried out on the classified information (¶ 0053, 0055, 0013-0015 and Abstract).

Regarding Claim 7, Knight discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the classifying comprises classifying the users into the various classes indicative of a user's classes of behavior patterns defined in connection with the definition of variables (Pg.1; line 26-Pg.2; line 18, Pg.3; line 16-34).

Regarding Claim 8, Knight discloses all the particulars of the Claim except the definitions of the classes of behavior patterns used in the classification of users are changed. However, OWENSBY teaches in an analogous art, that a method according to Claim 1, characterized in that the definitions of the classes of behavior patterns used in the classification of users are changed (§ 0053, 0055, 0013-0015 and Abstract).

Regarding Claim 9, Knight discloses all the particulars of the Claim except filtered unclassified information is classified into said new classes of behavior patterns. However, OWENSBY teaches in an analogous art, that a method according to Claim 8, characterized in that said filtered unclassified information is classified into said new classes of behavior patterns (§ 0053, 0055, 0013-0015 and Abstract).

Regarding Claim 10, Knight discloses a method according to Claim 1, characterized in that at least one of the variables is the type of contract of the user (Pg.3; 16-34).

Regarding Claim 11, Knight discloses a method according to Claim 1, characterized in that at least one of the variables is the type of system service. (Pg.3; 16-Pg.4; 6)

Regarding Claim 12, Knight disclose a method according to Claim 1, characterized in that said telecommunication system is a mobile communication system (1; fig.1; Pg.1; 7-10)

Claims 13-18 system claims, corresponding to method Claims 1-3, 9-10, 12 respectively, and rejected under the same rational set forth in connection with the rejection of Claims 1-3, 9-10, 12 respectively, above.

Claims 19-24 system claims, corresponding to method Claims 1-3, 9-10, 12 respectively, and rejected under the same rationale set forth in connection with the rejection of Claims 1-3, 9-10, 12 respectively, above.

Response to Amendments & Remarks

Applicant's arguments filed on 06/24/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Relating to Claim 1:

In view of the fact, that KNIGHT teaches, "the user's call is treated based on the user's profile stored in the user's database in the telecommunication system." (Knight, Pg.1; line 26-Pg.2; line 18, Pg.3; line 16-34). Thus, it is evidently, the explanations above is directed to telecommunications systems and methods for the user's call is treated based on the user's profile stored in the user's database in the telecommunication system, that positively, edify by KNIGHT. Hence, it is believed that KNIGHT still teaches the claimed limitations.

The above arguments also recites for the other independent claims, consequently the response is the same explanation as set forth above with regard to claim 1.

Because the remaining claims depend directly/indirectly, from one of the independent claims discussed above, as a result the response is the same justification as set forth above.

With the intention of that explanation, it is believed and as enlightened above, the refutation are sustained.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment (For illustration; since newly amended claims modified the above-disclosed rejection) necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
